

25
T H E

C A S E

O F

URIAN BRERETON, Esq; late Captain of the Regiment of Marines, commanded by Major-General Wills.

THAT Captain Brereton hath faithfully served the Government as an Officer in the Army, for these many Years past, and always discharged his Trust with all the Fidelity requir'd of him, as can be sufficiently prov'd by Letters, and otherwise.

THAT for his good Behaviour in the Siege of Namur, he was prefer'd to be Captain in the Regiment of Marines above-mention'd, then commanded by Colonel Saunderson.

THAT after the Conclusion of the Peace of Ryswick, the Army being disbanded, he was continued in Half-pay, till the breaking out of this present War, when the Regiment were completed again, in which he used such great Diligence, that his Company was not only full before the time appointed, but that several considerable Draughts were made out of his Company, to complete others in the said Regiment, commanded abroad in the Service.

THAT in the Year 1703, Captain Brereton cleared his Company, and embark'd according to the Orders of his late Royal Highness, on board the Lancaster Man of War, where he continued all the Summer, till King Charles came to England, when he was order'd to accompany him to Portugal, and thence to Spain, during which time he always kept his Company complete, as appears by the Muster-Rolls.

THAT coming on the Coast of Spain, in the Year 1704, he landed the greatest part of the Regiment, which he had then the Honour to command, under the Cannon of Barcelona, and being the first that went on Shore, he was commanded by the late Prince of Hesse, to take Possession of a difficult Post, to facilitate the Landing of the rest of the Marines; but not meeting with that Reception there that was expected, we re-embark'd again, and steered our Course to Altear, where, by Orders of Sir George Rooke, all the Marines were set on Shore; and Captain Brereton having the Honour to command them in Chief, took the Town and Castle, and blew up the Magazines of the Enemy.

THAT after the Expedition of Altear, the Marines were order'd on board again, to sail for Gibraltar, where they landed, and assisted at the Reduction of that Place, wherein the Captain had his Share, and in which Town he continued till the Arrival of the Earl of Peterborow, when he had leave from the Prince of Hesse, who then commanded in Chief, to return to England.

THAT after the Captain was embark'd at Spithead, he had Information that Peter Potter, Agent of the said Regiment, was come to Portsmouth; whereupon, the said Captain Brereton went on Shore, and demanded the Pay due to him and his Company, from the First of May, 1703, to his Return into England, and the Two Months Advance, order'd by the Government to be paid at the time of the Embarking; but instead of complying with his just Demands, the said Agent Potter being three several times call'd upon by the said Captain, return'd for Answer, He would not pay him One Penny, nor Accompt with him; notwithstanding the said Captain had supply'd his Company, during the time of their being abroad, with great Sums of Money, as plainly appears by the Books of Accompts; and after his Return from the said intended Expedition, and for the want of his Pay and Company's, he was obliged to dispose of his Company, to the utter Ruin of him and his Family.

THAT the Descent into France not taking its desir'd Effect, the said Captain being unable to continue in the Service without Money, was forced to come up to London, and make his Application to his late Royal Highness, who, in Consideration of his long Services, and the Hardships he had undergone, and for the more easier making up of his Accompts with the said Agent, and for the Recovery of his Health, which was at that time precarious, gave him leave to Dispose.

THAT the said Captain was forced to Petition the Court-Martial appointed for the Examining and Settling that Affair; but that very Day the said Captain was to have been heard before the said Court-Martial, he was arrested in several Actions by the Contrivance of the said Agent Potter, and was obliged to surrender himself Prisoner, and detain'd by the said Officers several Days in a Spunging-house, to his great Damage; during which time, no Plaintiff appear'd against the said Captain, nor no Bail would be accepted, the Judges being then out of Town; the said Actions were pretended to be at the Suit of some Soldiers who were under the said Captain's Command formerly, and one of them, some time before, deserted to the French, and the other a feigned Name.

THAT the said Captain being thus detained contrary to Law, at last a Proposal was made to the said Captain, that if he would enter into an Award of 3000 l. with the said Agent Potter, who caused the said Actions to be brought, and upon Signing of the said Award of 3000 l. he should be set at Liberty; which the said Captain was forced to comply with.

Your Petitioner therefore humbly Prays, this Honourable House, to take his hard Case into Consideration, and give him such Relief therein, as to your Honours great Wisdom and Goodness shall seem most meet,

And your Petitioner shall ever pray, &c.

8223 $\frac{2}{40}$

CSA

10 11
427

THE CASE

C A S E
O F
URIAN BRERETON, Esq;
late Captain of the Regiment

of Marines, commanded by
Major-General Wills.

1. The first of these is the fact that the Commission has not yet received any information from the Government of the United States regarding the activities of the Committee for the Liberation of the People of the South (CLPS) in the United States. The Commission is therefore unable to determine whether the CLPS is a legitimate organization or a subversive group. The Commission is therefore unable to determine whether the CLPS is a legitimate organization or a subversive group.

THE FT. CARLETON BEING THE ONLY REMAINING REMAINS OF THE
AND THE ONLY REMAINS OF THE OLD CARLETON BEING THE ONLY
AND THE ONLY REMAINS OF THE OLD CARLETON BEING THE ONLY

1. The first of these is the fact that the system is not a simple one, but a complex one, involving many different factors, and the results of which are not always predictable.

1870

48

10 11

427

THE
CASE
OF

URIAN BRERETON, Esq;
late Caprain of the Regiment
of Marines, commanded by Major-General Wills.